COME FOLLOW ME: Now Jesus will begin His work in the world. Jesus calls His first followers, Peter and Andrew. What Jesus said must have had great appeal. Peter left his business, which was good. He owned his own boat, while not being rich he made enough to support his family. Andrew was his partner. If they only knew what lay ahead, they may have gone back to fishing. Jesus said, “they would be fishers of men.” He did not tell them they would end up dying on a cross. That is the appeal of Jesus’ words. The same words we hear each Sunday. Jesus calls us to follow Him, He is not worried that we may not think we may not have what it takes, only that we follow and do our best. We like the Apostles are to gather people to the Lord. Jesus asks us to go out into the world and bring those who are lost, for them to be a part of the Children of God.

IN NEED OF PRAYER: Please pray for Kelly Seliga, Peter Krause, Louis McGlone.
